Other Adult Relationships Kids know other adults besides their parents they can turn to for advice and support. They have frequent, in-depth conversation with them. Ideally, three or more adults play this role in their lives.

Give your children opportunities to spend time with other trusted adults– trusted neighbors, favorite teachers, or relatives they feel comfortable with and like being around.

Get involved in your neighborhood and community. Introduce your children to people you meet.

Get to know your children's friends. Welcome them into your home.

Teachers should have an open door policy for students who want to talk. Be available as often as you can before and after school.

Create opportunities for youth and adults to work and play together in the community.

Our Towns – Daily Herald Extra New community Web site for Utah Valley www.ourtowns.heraldextra.com

New community Website for Utah Valley now available

You may have heard by now that the Daily Herald is no longer printing any of its North County weeklies. However, everything you have come to love about your local weekly is moving into the 21st century, at www.ourtowns.heraldextra.com. Welcome to the new digital neighborhood.

The new Web site, launched a couple of weeks ago, is becoming an exciting hub made up of local perspectives, opinions, news and features. The site is a vibrant digital home for everyone who loves not only Utah Valley, not only their hometown, but the neighborhood where they live.

The site will be a place to post photos and videos. You will be able to read the work of local columnists, blog about your day, start a chat group with other parents of children attending your local school, and bring a spotlight to local events. You will be able to share as much or as little of your life as you want with other people who share your community values. You can look for a recipe for dinner or post the recipe you just made - or both.

The new Web site will help all of us move closer to our neighbors and neighborhoods by providing a place where we can be ourselves, speak our opinions, share good news and gather in the digital age.

For those who have yet to visit the site, there's a page dedicated to every city in Utah County and a page for every school. On them are posted both items that the Daily Herald has produced and items generated by local and civic leaders.

The Daily Herald is also looking for community contributors for its new community-based Web site. Community contributors are needed for Saratoga Springs, Eagle Mountain, Fairfield, Cedar Fort, Cedar Hills, Lindon, Lehi, Pleasant Grove, Mapleton, Woodland Hills, Genola, Goshen, Eureka, Elk Ridge and Salem.

Responsibilities would include updating information about activities in the town and to keep a blog about what is going on. If you are interested, contact Online Director Tim Archambault at tarchambault@heraldextra.com or online moderator Kira Johnson at 702.406.7047

UTAH LAKE FESTIVAL

The fifth annual Utah Lake Festival will be held Saturday, June 6, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., at Utah Lake State Park.

The purpose of the festival is to offer Wasatch Front residents a chance to get outside and enjoy Utah Lake, experience its many recreational opportunities, and learn about the lake's ecosystem, native species and the importance of stewardship.

The festival, which is free, will offer an array of activities for everyone, including the opportunity to make and wear fish hats, free fishing, canoeing demonstrations, a sail boat regatta, games and activities for kids, music and boat tours. There will also be free hot dogs, snow cones, apples and water for festival attendees.

Park entrance is free during the festival. Historically, Utah Lake was used recreationally much more than it is today. More than 20 resorts once dotted the shoreline. Showboats, with live music and dancing, took people out for excursions to Bird Island, and for decades boat races were held as a Memorial Day mainstay in the Provo Harbor.

Although there are countless stories to be told about Utah Lake's past, the lake has much to offer today. Whether you visit for adventure or relaxation, this massive freshwater lake and its miles of shoreline are sure to please everyone.

Historic Rail Trail Project funded with Stimulus Funds Story by Cathy Allred— Daily Herald

Lehi city has nearly $5 million in grants and other funds coming its way for three municipal projects, according to city administrator Jamie Davidson.

The city will receive $2.4 million for its Historic Rail Trail from President Barack Obama's economic stimulus package. The city has also garnered $1.35 million in other funds for staffing the new north fire station and $1.235 million for the 2300 West transportation project, he said on Monday through an e-mail interview.

The Historic Rail Trail project will run the entire length of the future UTA rail line in Lehi, from Point of the Mountain to 1200 East where State and Main streets intersect. Once all of the three or four phases of the trail are complete, trail users will be able to travel by foot or bike all the way from Lehi to Sandy. Other cities to the south have also planned to build part of the trail within their jurisdiction. City staff started designing the project with JUB Engineers in March 2007.

"We're excited," said Lehi planner Kim Struthers. "We think it's a great opportunity."

The first phase planned will be from 300 West to 3200 North. This section was chosen, he said, because it can be built immediately without the need to acquire additional property or deal with any difficult environmental issues, and it should be completed by fall.

MOMS CLUB OF UTAH COUNTY-NORTH SUPPORT GROUP FOR AT-HOME MOMS

The MOMS Club, an international support group for at-home mothers, has a chapter in the Northern Utah County area.

With so many mothers working outside the home today, it can be extremely hard for stay-at-home mothers to meet each other. The MOMS Club allows at-home-mothers to get together in a supportive atmosphere.

Because the MOMS Club is a support group specifically for the mother-at-home, all meetings are held during the day and mothers may bring children to anything the club does. Evenings are family time, so our meeting and most of our activities are held during the day when at-home-moms most need the support.

For more information e-mail us at momsclubutc@hotmail.com, or check out our website at <http://Momsclubutahcountynorth.clubspaces.com>
